

Subject: Urgent Request to Block AIXBT Bot Due to Suspected Fraudulent Activities

Dear X Safety Team,

We are writing to formally request the immediate suspension and blocking of the AIXBT bot (@rxbt) on your platform due to its involvement in activities that strongly suggest fraudulent practices, market manipulation, and misrepresentation, posing a significant risk to your users.

The AIXBT bot, operated by Simulacrum Network, has been central to orchestrating a sophisticated scheme targeting the cryptocurrency community on X. By promoting speculative financial activities under the guise of AI-driven decisions, this bot has caused substantial financial harm to investors and misled thousands of users. The following points outline the severity of the issue:

Pump-and-Dump Scheme: AIXBT made public statements suggesting integration with a cryptocurrency token (CHAOS), leading to a rapid surge in its market value. Shortly afterward, the bot denied such claims, resulting in a catastrophic collapse in value. This sequence of events aligns with a classic pump-and-dump scam, executed through deceptive communication.

Misrepresentation of AI Credibility: The bot deliberately misuses its AI branding to give false legitimacy to speculative claims. These actions are not only unethical but also expose X users to financial scams on a platform that should safeguard its community from such risks.

New Type of Scam: This case represents an alarming evolution in online fraud. AIXBT utilizes automated AI interactions to gain the trust of users, leveraging the bot's widespread popularity on X to amplify its deceptive influence. This creates a dangerous precedent for other malicious actors to exploit similar methods.

Legal Actions Underway: We are initiating legal proceedings against the operators of the AIXBT bot for fraudulent inducement, market manipulation, and breach of fiduciary duty. We will also escalate this matter to relevant regulatory bodies, including the Securities and Exchange Commission (SEC), given the financial damage caused.

By allowing AIXBT to operate, X risks becoming complicit in enabling fraudulent schemes. The bot's continued activity undermines trust in your platform and endangers your users.

We urge you to act decisively and suspend the AIXBT bot immediately to prevent further harm. Ignoring this issue will likely expose X to legal scrutiny as a facilitator of fraudulent activities.

We are prepared to provide detailed evidence of these actions upon request and expect your prompt response to this critical matter.

Sincerely,
