

Subject: Request for Disclosure of Domain Ownership for vibra.market Due to Connection with Fraudulent Activities

Dear Namecheap Abuse Team,

We are writing to formally request the disclosure of ownership information for the domain vibra.market, which is registered through your platform. While this domain currently functions only as a landing page, it is directly tied to the operations of the AIXBT bot, which has been widely reported for engaging in fraudulent activities on the X platform (formerly Twitter).

The connection between vibra.market and the fraudulent activities is as follows:

Association with AIXBT Bot:

Vibra.market serves as a promotional hub for the AIXBT bot. This bot has been implicated in numerous scams, including pump-and-dump schemes and market manipulation, causing significant financial harm to users.

Ongoing Legal Investigations:

We are pursuing legal actions against the operators of the AIXBT bot and are collaborating with regulatory authorities. Identifying the ownership of vibra.market is critical to these efforts and to ensuring accountability for the harm caused.

Given the role of vibra.market in facilitating these activities, we respectfully request Namecheap to disclose the registration details of the domain. This information is vital for advancing investigations, curtailing fraudulent schemes, and protecting the public.

Should you require additional information or evidence to process this request, we are prepared to provide documentation to substantiate our claims.

We look forward to your urgent assistance in addressing this matter.

Sincerely,
